What everyone is afraid to say to tobacco farmers.

"It's been a rough year."
It's as simple as that. Costs are soaring and profits are barely getting off the ground.
At Fidelity National Bank we know enough about farming to realize what kind of a year it's been. And what that's done to your profit margins.
But we also know that no matter how little there is left over from this year's sales, you've got to save as much of it as possible to get you through to next year's. And pay for seed, fertilizer, labor and equipment along the way.
Because we understand this fact—that your financial needs are not like everyone else's—we also understand that not every savings plan is right for you.
And we're ready to show you one that is—with continuous compounding of interest so your money can grow as quickly as you need it to. And full freedom of withdrawal so you can get it when you need it, too.
Fidelity National Bank.
When we say we're out to help you grow, we mean it.

Agriculture Census Is Scheduled

Once every five years the nation counts its chickens - - and cows, pigs, crops, farm machinery and other agricultural items of importance. The 1974 Census of Agriculture will collect statistical information that will serve both as a base and a yardstick for many programs and activities of government and private industry, according to James R. Ford, Jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County ASC Committee.

The U. S. Bureau of the Census will conduct the farm census by mail, as it did in 1969, and once again agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture will help inform farmers about the census effort, Mr. Ford reported.

"The Census Bureau tells us that during the last of December er some 4.5 million report forms will be mailed to U.S. farmers and ranchers, asking that the forms be filled in and returned as soon as possible," he said. "At that time each county ASCS office will have material on hand to help answer farmers' questions about the questionnaire," he added.

When a producer nails back the census form, he can do so with the assurance that his answers are completely confidential. Information from each questionnaire will be compiled and correlated, without names or clues to the identity of any individual operation. Publication will be for counties and states as well as for the entire nation, with the first preliminary county reports expected to be published by September, 1975.

Additional information about the 1974 Census of Agriculture will be made available in the weeks ahead, Ford said.
